df.sort_values(by=['score','grade']) print (df) score grade 0
```
